INTRODUCTION

Event (with the support of FEDARENE)

FEDARENE (European Federation of Agencies and Regions for Energy and Environment) is a European network of energy agencies and local/regional authorities of more than 80 members. FEDARENE serve as springboard for the creation of new agencies and as a crossroads for a wide array of agencies. These ones are not only the driving force behind the development of the network, but also play an essential role in policy making.
